

November 14, 1990

Dear Professor Briganti,

Many, many Thanks for your sensitive and elegant contribution to my monographs. I feel quite honored to be the subject of your attention and kind words. The book was being printed when I left Italy late last month so it should be complete by now. Though I've heard nothing yet from the publishers.

I am now back at work in my American studio - struggling with a large figure composition which I've been trying to resolve for over a year.
Progress is slow but that is not unusual for me.

my very best wishes to you and to your lovely wife.

Warmest regards,

William Bailey